

Department of Land Economy Mentoring Scheme

Lawrence Bowles

Director, Residential Research

Savills

Lawrence provides market intelligence and strategy advice to internal and external clients, as well as contributing to Savills house price and rental forecasts.

External clients include investors, national and local government, property management companies and housing associations. Recent projects include calculating the impact of transport improvements on land value uplift, identifying development sites for build to rent and retirement housing developers, and reviewing development capacity and values across public land in Manchester.

Before joining Savills in 2014, Lawrence worked at a strategy consultancy advising companies in the real estate, construction, and logistics sectors.
