

Department of Land Economy Mentoring Scheme

David Mortimer

Head of Senior Debt, Real Estate

ICG-Longbow

David is a Director and Head of Senior Debt at ICG-Longbow, a specialist investment manager focused on UK real estate debt. David graduated from Robinson College in 2001 with a degree in Land Economy, and subsequently qualified as a chartered surveyor at King Sturge (now part of Jones Lang LaSalle) before moving into property finance. Prior to joining ICG-Longbow in January 2016 he worked for several years in Santander's real estate finance team, and before that at Bear Stearns and JP Morgan. David is a keen sports fan, and currently captains the CULS Golf Society where his enthusiasm for the game makes up for lack of natural talent.
